

Dervilla Mullan the Chief Product Officer and a board member at NewsWhip - a real-time insights platform serving communications and media professionals globally. She is also a board member of the innovation network, IRDG. Dervilla has led digital product & engineering teams across the communications and mar-tech sectors for over 25 years, developing streaming content services, mobile marketing platforms and self-service experiences. She is passionate about user-centred applications of innovation including AI. Dervilla is a graduate of UCD, with a degree in International Commerce and German.